OUR PRODUCT

Indonesian Luwak Coffee (HS - 0901110)

Indonesia, which stretches from the island of Sumatra to the island of Papua, consists of thousands of islands. The majority of them have the potential to produce superior coffee. Of course, this is due to its geographical and climatic conditions.

Indonesian coffee is known for its excellent quality, which is why it is so popular. One of them is, civet coffee comes from Indonesian soil, because the existence and term civet is only here, what distinguishes it from ordinary coffee beans is that the civet coffee beans are not picked by humans, but eaten by civets (a type of weasel). Because it is not digested, the coffee beans come out again along with the Luwak droppings. So in the civet's stomach the coffee beans undergo a fermentation process so that they become free from the acids found in ordinary coffee beans.

OUR PRODUCT

Indonesian Coffee

Lombok origin Arabica & Robusta (HS - 09011110)

Each coffee-producing island in Indonesia has its own characteristics, resulting in a distinctive cup of coffee. As you go deeper, into each island, you will see that each one contains various features. An area that produces coffee with its own distinctive quality. As a result of centuries of cultivation, several regions now have coffee varieties that are unique to each other.

Of all the coffees in the world, the specialty is traditionally made from Arabica and Robusta beans. The "Refined" refers to the premium Robusta coffee that has just been revived.
